Five Continents, 22 Countries, 360 Photos

11K views 11 days ago by Alex Berger

In 2008 I captured my first traveling boot shot while visiting Spain. The idea was simple – I wanted something that embodied the spirit of travel and discovery, was a photo I could take while traveling solo, and which wasn't just me standing awkwardly in-front of monuments. Since then I've gone through three pairs of Keen boots, three cameras, and a few pairs of flip flops. While the footwear itself has changed and the quality of my photography has improved the pose remains the same. This project is in no-way complete, and I am continually adding to the album.

The result is an ongoing project which has led to more than 360+ boot photos taken across five continents and in more than 20 countries.
